VILLA'S BODY REPORTED FOUND

Messages State Bandit Chief Died From Wounds, and Corpse is Being Taken to Juarez

(Special to The Herald)

El Paso, April 17.—General Gaviro, commanding the Carranza garrison at Juarez, on Sunday afternoon received a message from Chihuahua city stating that Col. Carlos Carranza, nephew of the first chief of the de facto government, was bringing Francisco Villa's body to San Antonio, the nearest railroad point to be sent to Chihuahua city. In Juarez, it is reported that the people there are holding a great celebration, with crowds parading the street and cheering and band playing. Pancho Villa's body was taken out of its lonely grave on a ranch near San Francisco Borja, near Cuahuachito, Chihuahua, and positively identified, according to Mexican official notices and private messages from San Antonio, Mexico. The bandit died from gangrene, as a result of a wound in his left knee.

If the death of Villa, generally credited on the border, is true, the United States army will immediately be withdrawn from Mexico, the object of its entry having been accomplished.

The story of the finding of the body came from several sources. First, Carranza officials received messages from San Antonio and Madera, both in the state of Chihuahua. Later a private message from San Antonio, Chihuahua, made no mention of fighting in the Verdun section nor in any other part of the west front.

REFUGEES FLEE FROM MEXICO

Sixty-Five American and Eight British Men, Women and Children Arrive at San Diego.

Washington, April 17.—Admiral Winslow, commander of the Pacific fleet, today reported to the navy department that 65 Americans and 8 British men, women and children refugees from Mazatlan, Mexico, had arrived at San Diego, Cal., on the supply ship Olacior. They fled from Mexico several days ago after whirling had been received of uprisings along the western coast.

BRINGS DOWN 5TH AEROPLANE

Berlin, April 17.—Lieut. Berthold of the German air service brought down his fifth enemy aeroplane, a British bi-plane, near Peronne in Belgium on Sunday, the German war office announced today. The official statement made no mention of fighting in the Verdun section nor in any other part of the west front.

A CLEW FOUND OF MISSING GIRL

Miss Dorothy Arnold, Who Disappeared
From Her New York Home Six Years
Ago, Said to Be Buried at West Point

(Special to The Herald)

Providence, April 17.—Dorothy Arnold who disappeared from her New York home six years ago is buried in the cellar of a house in West Point according to a statement made by an inmate of a Rhode Island penal institution.

The prisoner, who was a New York the two men hired to protect a doctor while the body was being removed and that he received $250 for his share.

The convict has recently acquired religion, it is said, and made the confession in order to ease his conscience. His identity and that of his accomplices is being kept secret until his statement has been investigated.

TWO AMERICANS ON BOARD

One Was Injured When Submarine Fired Upon a Russian Ship.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, April 17.—American Consul C. P. Hurst at Barcelona, Spain, today cabled the state department that two Americans were aboard the Russian ship Imperator, one of which was injured when the vessel was fired upon by an Austrian submarine near the Columbrede Islands. The injured American, Gustav Olsen, is in a hospital at Barcelona. Anar Swenson, whose father is a bandmaster at Fort Warren, Boston. The other American aboard was unharmed.

The Imperator was en route from Gibraltar, Spain, to Marseilles, with a cargo of lumber. Consul Hurst stated that the ship was fired upon by a submarine without warning by an Austrian submarine. The vessel was set on fire.

BELIEVED TORPEDOED

British Steamer Harrovia
Was on Way From New York to Havre.

(Special to The Herald)

London, April 17.—The British steamer Harrovia, 4,300 tons, bound from New York to Havre, has been sunk. The vessel was unarmed. It is thought to have been torpedoed by a German submarine. The Norwegian schooner Glendown, 1,517 tons, has been sunk by gunfire.

NO INFANTRY ATTACKS

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, April 17.—Although there were violent bombardments on both sides of the Meuse river, the night passed without any infantry attacks in the section of Verdun, the war office reported today. The Germans west of the Meuse shelled heavily the French lines on the Avocourt-Le-Morl-Homme-Coumieres front. East of the Meuse, the Germans bombarded the French position near Haudremont with extreme violence indicating preparation for further infantry attacks at that region.

ASSUMES CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT

Following Adjournment of Greek Chamber of Deputies the Cabinet Takes Up Guidance of Country

(Special to The Herald)

London, April 17.—Following the adjournment of the Greek Chamber of Deputies, the Greek cabinet and general staff today assumed absolute control of the government, says a dispatch from Athens.

The most important question which demands a solution now is the demand of the Allies for use of the railway lines for the transportation of Serbian troops from the Adriatic to the Aegean coast.

A strong protest has been lodged by the Germans against Greece giving the Anglo-French forces control of the railway lines. Greece is more completely under the domination of the Entente Powers than at any other time since operations became active in the Balkans. The indications are that the Allied troops will be landed on Crete, as British and French warships are now anchored off the island.

MOVIE STAR PICTURES.

If you want a good picture of your favorite movie star for your album you can get it by watching the Gravyre Section of The New York Sunday World, in which from two to four pictures of actors and actresses are published in every week's issue. URGE H. B. AYER FOR JUDGE IN YORK COUNTY

WOULD SUCCEED ROBBES PRES-
ENT INCUMBENT WHO IN $30
YEAR IS READY TO RETIRE.

Midford, Me., April 15.—Register of Probate Harry B. Ayer of the York County Probate Court, candidate in the Republican primaries for judge of probate, a position held a long period by Nathaniel T. Hobbs of North Berwick, the oldest probate judge in the United States, has the support with two exceptions of every Republican lawyer in the county.

Judge Hobbs, who is in his 83d year and has served as presiding justice of the Probate Court for 41 consecutive years, announced recently that he would not be a candidate for reelection. His health has been poor the past year, and he decided that he would not seek a reappointment.

Register Ayer was born in Cornish, April 14, 1871. Recently, when the venerable judge learned this fact, he said: "If I am able I will take you to a Portland hotel Friday where I will give you a birthday dinner. We will celebrate the event in royal style. It will be, perhaps, like no other dinner ever celebrated in Maine. It is not often, I guess, that a probate judge, 84 years old, who has presided almost half a century, when he is about to retire from office gives a dinner to his recorder, who has served under him 16 years and is a candidate for the judgeship. There will be only two at the party, you and I."

And the party occurred. Mr. Ayer was admitted to the bar in 1895 and practiced in Westbrook and South Berwick.

In 1901 he began his duties as register of probate and has served ever since. He was appointed by Ex-Gov. William T. Haines as secretary to the committee to revise the probate rules and blanks.

Register Ayer is a member of the Masonic order in Saco and Midford, including Bradford Commandery, K. T. He also belongs to the Home Market Club in Boston, the Portland Lodge of Elks and to the Grange.

He has received assistance of support in his effort to secure the nomination for the judgeship from Republicans in every town in the county. In Buxton there were 71 signatures to his petition.

Mr. Ayer is married, and lives in this city.

FRENCH FLOOD GERMANY WITH PAMPHLETS FROM THE AIR.

Berlin, April 17.—Many districts in the interior of Germany have been flooded with small pamphlets by the French. Hundreds of these sheets have been found in Wuerstemburg, Baden, Hesse, Saxony and even in the central part of Prussia.

Their origin at first was a puzzle, but it has been ascertained that they come from France and were sent into the heart of the German Empire with the aid of big balloons.

The pamphlets are printed in a very poor, comical German and bear the title: "The Truth about the War." Titles: "Victorious Everywhere." One of them reads in part:

"Germans, no longer longer will you permit yourselves to be deceived by your Government? Do you want us to destroy you completely? Your armies are routed on all fronts, the victories of which your leaders have told you are inventions and there is no hope for you."

"In a short time the French, British and Russian armies will sweep through your country and destroy your towns and villages your homesteads and factories, as your soldiers have destroyed those of Belgium."

"We have reduced you to a state of starvation and you are at our mercy, but we do not want to annihilate you. If you do not force us to it, France and her allies are satisfied with the already accomplished destruction of Prussian militarism and do not want to exterminate you. If you become sensible."

"Rise up against your original betrayers, who swindle you and tell you of victories that have never been won. Drive your rulers from their thrones or hang them, and make peace with us. There will then no longer be a German Empire, but you will be happier. We will not keep you in a state of slavery nor force you to give up your language. Act at once, take the government into your own hands and acknowledge your defeat, before it is too late."

SHAMROCK A. C. DEFEATED
STARK A. C. 5 TO 2.

The Shamrocks started their first game of the season by defeating the Stark A. C. Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. The pitching of Keeble held the Stark's to three serious hits and deserved a shut out. McCabe of the Stark A. C. also pitched good ball. The holding of "Doc" White of the Shamrocks was the feature of the game, he making three sensational catches.

Cullinan was the featured of the Shamrocks. The line-up:

SAW FIGHT AT FORT SUMTER

A Hampton resident in a letter to "Universal Citizen" in Saturday's Boston Post has the following to say:

"Dear Observant Citizen—April the 16th of the great war, does anyone recall the events of April 12 and 13, 1864? Years truly does, because on the 12th he was an eye-witness of the Fort Sumter scrap and saw the doomed fort enveloped in flame and smoke.

"The name date may such a snow blizzard in New England, that at Newbrook, N. H., four locomotives were stalled in the same snow drift. That was what is called 'A Northern' in C. H. Hampton, N. H."

BOXING NOTES

ENGLISHMAN IN GOOD CONDI-TION FOR TUESDAY'S BOUT

Boston, April 17.—Matt Wells, the English boxer, will come here in excellent condition next Tuesday night, as a return match has been offered him with Charlie White of Chicago in the event of pulling off a clear-cut victory over Eddie Murphy of South Boston.

Wells doesn't need any puffing. His record speaks for itself. He has met all the great boxers in his class, and has a victory to his credit over Freddie Welsh, the present title holder. Freddie and Matt fought for the London belt, the trophy emblematic of the championship of England, and Matt whipped Freddie for it. The latter fought it however.

The complete and indisputable way in which Wells won from Charlie White in this city is the best evidence of his remarkable ring prowess and it means that the South Boston boy will be in line for some pretty good matches before the season closes.

A semi-final that will be spirited is sure to be on tap, for Joe Connolly of Charlestown and Tammie McFarland of the North End are both busy boxers.

WITH THE SPORTS

A new comedian has flashed across the baseball horizon, a youth whose antics are more hilarious than those of Nick Atroc, Germany Schaefer, Albie Latham or any other funny man the Diamond Game has produced.

He is Carl Sawyer, late of Des Moines, which is in Iowa, and now a utility keystone player and coach for the Senators. Outside of Washington, little is known of his second boxing skill, but already he is a sensation as a clown.

Sawyer is worth the price of admission any time he is billed to stage his "frisky" donkey act, do his "flip-flopping" and his swimming through the grass. He will make you forget your worries, make you take defeat of the home team with a smile and cause you to laugh until your ribs feel as though Jesus' fingers have been banging them for a week.

Sawyer made his first big league appearance as a coach for the Senators in the seventh inning of the opening Yankee-Senators battle—and not one of that crowd of twenty thousand ever will forget him. He conducted himself with decorum until Melville doubled and Johnson went left to third with a sacrifice. And then he broke loose from his dignified moorings.

He leaped high into the zone and came down with a crash on his head. The crowd gasped. It feared his neck had been broken accidentally. But Sawyer rebounded like a rubber ball, landed lightly, dove head first for the second time—and again bounced up for the third time. Each time the crowd gasped. But his anxiety over Sawyer was wasted. Sawyer apparently had no bones in his head, his neck or his back.

And then just as Caldwell was going to wind up to pitch to Morgan, Sawyer performed his swimming trick. He jumped into the air, jumped head first to the earth, and as soon as he landed rolled over on his stomach and vigorously began using the breast stroke, then shifting to doggie fashion, meanwhile kicking his legs in frog fashion.

The capers of Sawyer temporarily delayed the ball game. Caldwell conversed with laughter and halted in his flinging efforts. The players forgot all about the business in hand and joined the crowd in its roars of laughter. Unperturbed, Morgan's attention was focused upon the pitcher. A stern look came upon his classic features. Were these antics legitimate?

Should he stop them and chase Mr. Sawyer to the cooler? What should he do?

Connolly finally did just as the crowd hoped he would do—order the contest to proceed and permit Sawyer to continue his side-splitting entertainment.

Immediately afterward Morgan singled, scoring Melville. And then Sawyer, in high glee staged his frisky donkey walk-provoker.

Off came his cap to serve as a ball, swishing it wildly he galloped up and down the coach's box, meanwhile kicking in approved donkey style. Suddenly he halted as an animal would do beaten with a whip and then he began to jump up and down, echoing throughout the game.

KITTERY POINT

Rehearsal for the Easter music of the First Christian church will be held this evening at the home of Miss Francis Emery.

John Brooks returned to his home in North Berwick on Saturday after visiting his sister, Mrs. Mary Wilson, at Phippsburg.

Miss Millie Lewis returned to her home on Saturday after visiting relatives in Boston for several weeks. The K. P. Club was pleasantly feedlike open to them to preventing this great decline in the number of this particular fish.

A similar illustration is found in the Connecticut River. Here again the Connecticut fishermen can go ahead and catch the fish and reduce the numbers, while the people in Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire are powerless to act. In the case of the Menhaden, Massachusetts may stop the fish from going up the river while the people in New Hampshire are powerless. The bill in congress seeks to prevent the continuation of this state of affairs through empowering the bureau of fisheries to establish and prevent the unnecessary pollution of the streams. Dr. George W. Field, former chairman of the Commission on Fisheries and game, says that the passage of the bill is absolutely essential for the maintenance of the fisheries.

Suggestions for legislation to create a permanent commission and to extend the credit of the state to a $1,000,000 bond issue for the purpose of international exposition to celebrate the tercentenary of the Landing of the Pilgrims have been made to the house ways and means committee that is considering the report of the special commission and the governor's message on this subject. Gen. Edgar R. Champlin was the sponsor for the bill which would authorize the commission to take land to the extent of 3000 acres. Gen. Champlin said that he believed if the proposed exposition is put upon a permanent basis, enough money may be obtained to make it a success from those who will put their money into the project as an investment. The bill provides that the special commission shall have authority to issue $3,000,000 worth of 4 per cent bonds, payable within ten years, guaranteed by the commonwealth, conditional upon the raising of $1,000,000 by private subscription for the project.

According to information from the office of Tax Commissioner William D. Trefry, Massachusetts faces a possible loss of several millions of dollars annually should the income tax bill reported to the legislature which comes up for action tomorrow, be enacted into law. It would result in the loss of revenue from trust estates, the owners of which do not reside in the state and which under the proposed law would not have to pay any taxes into the state treasury. The bill is regarded by tax officials as having one of the nearest named "jokers" ever slipped into any bill. Under the present law, out-of-state owners of property in Massachusetts file a schedule and pay a tax. Under the proposed law, the schedule would have to be filed, but the oath of the trustee that the property is owned by person or persons not living in Massachusetts would automatically stop payment of the tax.

Paint can't be Told by Looks

Paint of the sham variety was never known to produce permanently satisfactory work. It may pass muster for a while, but looks alone cannot stand up against persistent, ravaging attacks of rain and shine. Looks must be backed up by weather resistance as it is in paint made from and pure linseed oil. Protects against decay and gives good looks at minimum cost. Just the thing, too, for inside walls and woodwork.

Dutch Boy Red Seal White Lead

Our white lead is the best in the world. All first-class paint dealers.

SIXTY-FIVE ATTACKS ON SHIPS TO BE NAMED

Washington Prepares Indictment of Entire German Submarine Policy in New Note to Berlin Will be Practical Ultimatum

Washington, D. C., Sunday.—Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, has almost finished the final draft of the new American note to Germany, which is expected to bring quick and important developments in the submarine situation. Only the finishing touches remain to be put on the communication by President Wilson. It was stated today in official circles that the note would go forward to Berlin "without delay."

It was generally stated here today that the note is an indictment of the entire German policy of submarine warfare, specifying sixty-five instances of attacks on vessels which this government holds to have been contrary to international law.

While those who are close to the President avoid all talk of an ultimatum to Germany, it is well known that official Washington regards a severance of diplomatic relations as one of the strong possibilities of the situation. It may be several weeks before the situation reaches that critical point, for no time limit for Germany to answer has been set in the note which is about to go to Berlin.

While Mr. Lansing was closeted in his study at home today reviewing the affidavits of survivors in the case of the steamship Sussex to obtain final proof of Germany's guilt in that outrage, two despatches were received at the State Department giving fresh instances of violation of past assurances.

American citizens were involved in both of the submarine attacks reported today. In one instance the steamship Margam Abbey was sunk by a submarine which fired upon the ship without warning. John D. Harrison, of Chicago, a steward on the vessel, was reported among the survivors. The attack occurred on April 5 sixty-five miles south of the Lizard. The circumstances of the attack, as officially reported to the State Department by Mr. Robert T. Skinner, Consul General at London, constitute an absolute violation of Germany's assurances, offering as serious a case for this government to deal with as that of the Sussex.

In the second case, the Aberdeen bark Iverlyon was sunk by shell fire from a submarine 100 miles out at sea. The men aboard her were placed in small boats, being allowed but fifteen minutes to make their escape. In this instance, as the report to the State Department shows, Germany violated the pledge given in the Frye negotiations not to torpedo any vessel save when the general conditions, "that is, to say, the weather, the conditions of the sea and the neighborhood of the coast afford absolute certainty that the boats will reach the nearest port."

The neighboring coast in this instance was 100 miles distant, and naturally the opinion was expressed here today that this is a strange interpretation to place upon the pledges given in the Frye case.

The attack took place on April 11, and one of the two small boats launched from the Iverlyon is still reported missing. Two Americans were on board the bark, but they were happily in the boat that reached port. This fact, does not, however, lessen the degree of the offense against the United States.

These fresh instances of German disregard of past assurances, coming at the moment when the United States was completing its indictment of Germany, have had a serious effect upon the situation. There are now sixty-five instances of attacks on ships which the United States will have to consider in its bill of particulars against Germany. To accurately report the situation it must be stated that high administration officials have very recently said that they have had indications of Germany's desire to maintain friendly relations with the United States which leads them to the belief that Germany will not conduct such a submarine policy as will deliberately force a break in relations.

But the record already seems to offer overwhelming evidence against the reliability of those reports, and each day fresh evidence is added to show that Germany is actually launched upon a campaign which must force the United States to a break.

The Sussex case alone is one which it must be extremely difficult to settle amicably and that case now is but a very small factor in the whole issue.

For the present the course of the administration, it is said, will be to send a note to Germany summarizing the whole record of the recent campaign, and contrasting with Germany's conduct in her first submarine campaign and her subsequent assurances that she would adhere to the law. No time limit will be set in this note, it is said, and that means that Germany will have an opportunity to reply. Thus it seems clear that there are to be two notes at least before there is a break. Predictions of the ultimate break at this time would therefore be premature and unwise, because they would be based upon an assumption as to the contents of those notes which no one could forecast.

Nevertheless, basically the situation looks extremely bad. The record against Germany could hardly be blacker, and, worst of all, day after day the German submarines continue to pile up fresh outrages. In this apart from any hints or suggestions given from official sources here, the facts in the case look as though the United States was confronted with a deliberate assault upon its vital rights which it could not, no matter how Chinaled the most extreme pacifist might want to free it, ignore for very long.

It is true that in some of these cases in a good many of them, subsequent investigation has shown that Germany has a defense. The vessel attempted flight or in some other way invited attack. But there are now too many cases in which the official reports read "torpedoed without warning," to leave much doubt of the fact that German submarine commanders are following the assassin's course of not risking the danger of "visit and search" and are firing without any pretense of obeying the law.

Mr. Lansing received the affidavits from the Sussex survivors and evidence in other cases in a mail pouch which reached the State Department this morning. He ordered it sent to his home and left the department at noon to devote his entire afternoon to the study of this evidence. This study is chiefly in the nature of a review to check up on the evidence as already sent to the department in cable despatches.

When this work is completed the final strokes can be given to the bill of particulars and the whole case will be ready for presentation. President Wilson, it was stated, today will confer with leaders in Congress upon the contents of this "bill of particulars." All of this will be done, the first of next week and then the issue will come.

AUGUSTUS STEVENSON PASSED AWAY ON SATURDAY EVENING

ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN RESIDENTS OF KITTERY AND A MAN WITH AN ENVIABLE RECORD IN THE NAVY YARD

Augustus Stevenson, one of the best known residents of North Kittery, and also one of the longest employees at the Portsmouth navy yard, died at his home in North Kittery, Saturday evening, aged 80 years. He was born in North Kittery on November 10, 1835, and had been a life long resident there.

Mr. Stevenson entered into the employ of the government at the navy yard in the early '60's and most of his life work was there, although for a few years he was in the contracting

SOCONY KERO-SCENES

"John!"
"Yes, my love."
"John, the kerosene can is empty."

"John! Did you hear me?"
"Yes, light of my life. You said 'The kerosene can is empty.' I am sincerely sorry that the kerosene can is empty."
"Yes, so am I, because you've got to go out and get it filled."

"John! John!"
"Yes, my love. Can I get it filled at the grocery on the 'die corner'?"

"No, you can't. I don't know anything about their kerosene? You've got to go down the street to Smith Bros. They carry SOCONY Kerosene."

"But, my love, be reasonable. Isn't all kerosene alike?"

"Yes, it isn't. There is as much difference in kerosene as there is in eggs. Get SOCONY Kerosene—it's the Standard Oil Company of New York's best grade of refined oil."

"Yes, my love. SOCONY, you say?"

"Yes, SOCONY. Look for the SOCONY sign on the store window. Mind you don't come back with anything else. And hurry!"
"Yes, my love."

FIX UP A DUMMY SAFE TO ROB CIGAR STORE

New York, Sunday.—Had it not been that the burglars in fixing up an imitation safe to place in the front of the building while they worked on the regular safe in the rear forgot to put handles on the pasteboard replica of the front of a safe the United Cigar Stores company might have suffered another heavy loss today. It was due to the absence of handles on the pasteboard front of a safe that three men are locked up at police headquarters charged with attempting to burglarize the company's store at No. 113 Lenox avenue.

Owing to the store having been robbed of $1,500 about two months ago Policeman Patrick Kelly, of the West 122d street station, was observing it closely. He saw what looked like the safe in the front of the store, but there was no handle near the lock. This caused him to investigate.

With his revolver drawn he entered the store from the rear and saw the shadow of a man on the wall. He fired. "Don't shoot, we're up against the wall and our hands are up," came the answer to the shot from three very frightened voices.

Policeman Kelly switched on the light and saw three men backed up against the wall. Sergeant Burke and Policeman John W. Ray came on the run and took the men to the West 122d street station. There they gave the names of William Gaynor, of No. 305 East Ninety-second street, and Harold Smith, of No. 125 West 114th street.

The men had moved the regular safe to the rear and had drilled a hole in it and were just getting ready to blow it open when Kelly entered.

Under the safe, for the crime of selecting officers for the crime who are capable of superintending such a camp and having charge of the prisoners in the camp.

The National Committee on Prisoners agrees with Warden Zimmer that too much stress cannot be laid both upon the selection of the men and the character of officers. The committee has brought before the Society for Highway Engineering the opportunity for the road engineer in convex road work and the need that engineers be specially trained for this work. Upon the men in charge of convict camps there is heavy responsibility but to the right men success is assured.

How Physiologists Regard Coffee

In a recent article, Dr. W. A. Evans, editor of the "How to Keep Well" column of the Chicago Tribune, says:

"In order that no misunderstanding may arise, I should say that physiologists regard Coffee, Tea, Tobacco and Whiskey as drugs in the same sense as Opium and Cocaine are. From coffee at one end of the line to cocaine at the other, no pot has the right to call the kettle black."

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a habit-forming drug—not enough in one cup to seriously harm. But, when used regularly, it is for many the cause of sleeplessness, nervousness, heart trouble, mental and physical fatigue, and a host of other complaints.

on the other hand, is a pure food-drink made of roasted wheat and a little molasses. It tastes much like coffee, but contains no caffeine nor other injurious drug.

Postum comes in two forms: The original Postum Cereal, which must be boiled; 15c and 25c packages; and Instant Postum, a soluble form that produces the beverage instantly—a level teaspoonful to a cup of hot water; 30c and 50c tins. Both forms are equally delicious, and the cost is about the same—one-half cent per cup.

Even a ten-day trial will place the average person far enough away from coffee troubles to prove

ILLINOIS FINDS PRISON LABOR A SUCCESS

Chicago, Ill., April 16.—(City) Prisoners are to work in and around the new electric edison in Illinois this summer in grading and road building.

Warden Zimmer, of the State Penitentiary in a recent letter to the National Committee on Prisoners reports great success in using road work in Illinois. The idea of the state sending that township's besting to secure the services of convicts for road work must make application and enter into a contract with the institution. No work can be done until such request has been made and contract entered into.

The success of the work, Warden Zimmer states, depends upon the selection of the men for the work. Prisoners have already been worked in Illinois and it carried out without friction or trouble of any sort. The Warden also emphasizes the importance

Apple Dealers Caught.

There is little sympathy with speculators when they meet with losses, especially when the commodities dealt in consist in food stuffs. Yet under all the circumstances it is possible that apple dealers who are suffering very heavy losses are entitled to some sympathy. There is no evidence that they underlook to corner the supply for the purpose of squeezing the public. They expected a large export trade, and this would have come to them in spite of the European war if they could have had the shipping facilities they needed. These, because of the war, fell far short of the demand, with the result that hundreds of thousands of barrels that would have been sent abroad if there had been ships to carry them were left in this country to be sold for what they would bring.

The first mis-step on the part of the dealers was underestimating the size of the crop. And in this they were not alone. The same mistake was made by the federal inspectors, and as a consequence apple growers received better prices for their crops in the fall than would otherwise have been the case. Underestimating the crop was certainly no trick of speculators. It would have been for their interest to overestimate it for the purpose of knocking prices down at the time of buying. This they did not do, and there is nothing to indicate that they attempted to take unfair advantage at any point. They bought, and stored on what they considered a safe basis, but because of a larger supply than they anticipated and the lack of ocean shipping facilities many of them were left in the lurch and their losses run into the millions. On April 1 there were more than 2,000,000 barrels in cold storage, and several millions had been disposed of before that time with heavy losses to the dealers.

The result is such as is liable to come to those who buy and sell to get gain. They cannot always hit it right. In this case there was at least one condition that could not be foreseen—the lack of adequate shipping facilities—for which war conditions were responsible, and the outcome is what it is. One result is that apples for home consumption have not been so high in price as would otherwise have been the case, and so the dealers' losses have been the people's gain. It is a painful experience for the dealers, but there are other years coming and their losses will undoubtedly be recouped in the course of time.

Henry Ford is the choice of the Michigan Republicans for president if the returns from the primaries form an adequate criterion by which to judge. But of course they know he will never be nominated or elected. If the voters had felt that they were really naming a president the result would probably have been different. Nevertheless it was a high compliment that was paid to a distinguished citizen, who without doubt is level-headed enough to accept it for what it is worth and not to become excited or unduly elated.

Blame for the recent railroad wreck in Connecticut has been placed on a dead engineer. In the case of the great wreck on the New York Central the blame sifted down to a live engineer, who is now under compulsory retirement. There is always trouble ahead for the locomotive engineer who fails in his duty.

The fight against the disease cost the country millions of dollars, and the fact that it has been won is a source of relief and satisfaction to all.

The South and West are great sources of news. Not long since we were reading about floods and tornadoes there, and now comes the intelligence that ideal weather for farming operations prevails. DON'T BELIEVE VILLA DEAD

Washington Officials Discredit Reports From Mexico That Bandit's Body Has Been Found.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, April 17.—Washington officials today utterly discredited the report from Carranza sources that Villa is dead and that his body is being taken to Chihuahua City to be exhibited in proof of that fact. Not a single confirmatory report of the Mexican claim had reached the state or war departments and officials said that they believed the report was erroneous. At the Mexican embassy it was said that details are still being awaited. At that officials knew what had been carried in the press dispatches and brief reports along the same line from representatives at Mexico City and Juarez. It was stated that before this government accepts the reported death of Villa as true, it will insist on an identification of the body by Consul General Carruthers and Consul Letcher, both of whom have been very intimate with the bandit chief.

AFTER WARS ARE OVER

The Boston Post on Sunday published the following editorial on the removal of the Spanish dead from the navy yard under the title of "After Wars Are Over."

"One day last week, the pictures of the United States navy yard that fringed beautiful Portsmouth harbor was the scene of an incident, which at this time when half the world is torn and bleeding from war, was most suggestive and impressive. Early in the spring morning a battalion of marines and detachments of sailors from the warships in port, headed by a military band, marched to the naval hospital in the yard, and from that place escorted with all the honors of the service, a funeral cortege of 31 caskets. If the mythical 'man from Mars' could have beheld the scene he might have thought that these men of Uncle Sam's navy were paying some special tribute of honor and esteem to some of their fellows who had fallen in battle.

But he would have been wrong. Over the caskets were Spanish, not American flags. The trim cruiser to which these remains were escorted, to the solemn strains of a martial march, was Spanish, not American. And the bodies themselves were of Spaniards who had gallantly fought at the battle of Santiago, but who had succumbed later to wounds or disease on the island in Portsmouth harbor that was a prison, but a most merciful and kindly, and pleasant one.

"Once—in the fierce conflicts of war and conflict—these men had been lured by ours, and had lured in return. Each group would have torn and killed the other with enthusiasm. But now—

"As the representative of my government, and especially of the Department of the Navy," said Rear Admiral Knight to the Spanish commander, "I am charged with the duty of transferring to your custody the remains of these brave men, your countrymen, whose fate it was to die far from the land which they loved and which they honored by their valor. They have slept for many years in the soil of an alien, though not unfriendly country. Today they enter upon their journey home. We rejoice with you that this is so; and yet we would not have you feel that we have thought of them as strangers in these years through which they have rested in this, to them, strange land. What we could do, we have done, to create about their resting place an atmosphere not of respect alone but of affection. Year after year in honoring our own heroes we have honored them, with little thought of any difference. Year after year on our memorial day the flag they loved has been planted over their heads."

"Nothing could be finer than that spirit of toleration; of admiration for a brave foe, and of the desire to forget a war in the passing of the friendly years. The Spanish commander's words of gratitude and esteem for his government and its kindly thought showed how deeply he was touched.

Wars come, but they must go. They begin, but they must end. The horrible cataclysm of blood and destruction over in Europe cannot go on indefinitely or Old World civilization would be bankrupt in more ways than one. The end is already written in the book of the fates.

With that end will come, if slowly, the return of mutual respect and good will. Does this seem impossible today? History teaches that it is not only not impossible, but inevitable. Before many years have rolled away, the nations will be honoring each other's dead. That is the one certainty that keeps hope in humanly alive during these dreadful days."

CURRENT OPINION

With the enormous crop which we have had in the northwest and generally throughout the United States I look for higher levels in gross and net railroad earnings.

I do not believe that much money will be spent in construction or improvements until railroad securities are higher. I do not believe that President Wilson's recommendation for the appointment of a commission to investigate the railroads' situation should be carried out. In my opinion they have been thoroughly investigated. He would better recommend that something be done to relieve the burden already placed upon them. I am not in favor of government regulation. There is too much "politics" in anything connected with the government.—By E. Pennington, President Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie.

I'VE BEEN TOLD THAT

New Hampshire golfers will again be up against the stiff game set by Jesse Guilford, former state champion, who returns from Massachusetts to this state and will again be a member of his Manchester club. Guilford leaves his Massachusetts residence and is "back on the farm," thus escaping from under the lasso of the U. S. G. A. who were preparing to cast it over his head for professionalism. Guilford was in danger of being classed as a professional as his position as a sporting goods salesman comes under the ban made by the national association. Guilford will likely be one of the opponents to be reckoned with this season for state honors, now held by C. W. Bass of this city.

Matches are made in Heaven, but fools spoil them.

Now that the resolution ordering the bill against the board of Public Works from Cole and Cole, for the inspection of the water plant, has been vetoed, a fight will likely be made in the council meeting of a week from Wednesday to pass it over the veto. Just where the several members stand on this question is not now known as there was no roll-call necessary when the resolution was passed. It is the opinion of the members of the council that a stiff effort will be made to override the veto but on what standpoint could not be learned. Several of the citizens are of the opinion that the passing of the resolution was far from justified and the Board exceeded its authority in engaging the engineers for the survey, a work which was done but a few years before by the same engineers. It is not generally accepted that the citizens are in favor of paying $687.00 for after it was paid for once.

Villa and Verdun are each in the same situation, i. e. about to be captured.

A large number of people have inquired where "Bum" is now that the U. S. S. San Francisco has returned to port. "Bum," the big shaggy, good natured, doggy, seems to be among the missing and although several of the boys of the ship have been asked about him no definite information as to his fate has been received up to the present time. If "Bum" is lost, he will be missed to a great extent.

It will allow for almost double the seating capacity of the past season. It is the intention of the Sunset League directors, as it has been for years, to make this season the best in the history of the League.

It is rumored that a meeting of the directors of the Sunset League will be an opinion that was rendered in 1911 held this week for the election of officers and the choosing of umpires and a few days after the several team managers will be invited to submit the names of their players. It should be less than a month now before the league is in full swing as the weather should be fairly well settled by that time. The cold weather which greeted the opening of the league last year is not expected this season as we have had about all that is coming to us in that line. It is probable that the directors will seek to have the diamond made ready as soon as the organization is perfected. The home plate will likely be moved a few feet from its position of the past few years and it is understood that the league will also try to have two new sets of bleachers built in keeping with the new grand stand they succeeded in having erected last year. The present bleachers will probably be moved nearer the outfield and the new one will occupy the position now taken by them. The arrangement, if carried

BATTLE IN SENATE

Washington, April 17.—The Senate engaged in a battle royal today over the National Guard. The fighting opened when the National Guard deluged the Senate with protests against Senator Borah's charge that the eight million dollars' Federal annual appropriation to the Guard was wasted and some of it actually embezzled. Senators Pomeroy, of Ohio, Reed, of Mo., and McCumber, of No. Dakota, championed the National Guard cause and delivered a joint assault on Borah. He stood his grounds and shouted: "I challenge the National Guard lobby to controvert any of the specific charges I have made. I made no general charges. I gave names, dates and amounts, and I am prepared to back them up." Senator Reed had read a sweeping denial made by the executive committee of the National Guard association.

FUNERAL SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

The last sad rites over the remains of Mrs. Eliza Mullen were held at the St. John's Episcopal church on Saturday, which were attended by quite a large number of sorrowing friends and acquaintances of the deceased woman who was much loved in life. Rev. W. N. Partridge, pastor of St. John's presided and conducted the full impressive Episcopal service for the dead.

Many floral tokens accompanied the remains, which expressed more fully than words the keen sorrow felt as a result of the visit of the Angel of Death.

Following the services the body was sent to Forest Hills cemetery, Boston, where prayers were read by the Rev. Mr. Sprague, a life long friend of Mrs. Mullen.

Funeral Director W. P. Miskell had charge of the funeral arrangements and the following acted as pallbearers: Maurice Conney, Michael Brennan, Jeremiah Walsh, of Boston, Dennis McGrath of Portsmouth.

"PECK'S BAD BOY" DIES

Aged Author and Ex-Governor of Wisconsin Widely Known by His Stories.

Milwaukee, April 17.—George W. Peck, former governor of Wisconsin, and mayor of Milwaukee died here Saturday afternoon in his 76th year. He was best known to fame as the author of "Peck's Bad Boy." Those articles were given tremendous vogue 30 years ago and were copied generally in newspapers and periodicals throughout the United States. The popularity of the "Bad boy" was such as to give Peck's paper, the Milwaukee a circulation greater than the population of the city where the paper was printed.

The Sun was a weekly paper when Mr. Peck began recording the adventures of the "bad boy" whose inexhaustible pranks made the whole nation laugh. It was generally believed that his eldest son supplied the material for the stories. Mr. Peck, himself, admitted that he wrote the stories more for his amusement than for profit, a statement which is borne out by the fact that he sold the copyright for a nominal sum and the publishing company that printed the stories in book form made a fortune, the book running into many editions. Mr. Peck, however, eventually made a fortune on the royalties derived from his writings.

MURPHY FINED

John W. Murphy, known throughout New England as an aeronaut and high diver, and John W. Cox, a shoe worker, were each fined $20 in the district court at Inverhill on Saturday, on charges of disturbing the meeting held in city hall on Sunday afternoon, April 2, when Thomas W. Leyden, speaker, attempted to conduct and out of which grew the riot on the following Monday. Each pleaded not guilty.

Palm Sunday was appropriately observed in the local churches on Sunday.

TRAIN AGAIN IN COLLISION

Twentieth Century Limited Side-Swiped by Tank Cars at Cleveland.

Cleveland, April 17.—The Twentieth Century Limited, the New York Central's crack train, was in collision for the second time in three weeks on Sunday night, when it was side-swiped by two empty tank cars a short distance west of the draw bridge over the Cuyahoga river, a short distance outside the Union station.

Steel plates were wrenched off the sides of the car as the train, slowing up as it neared the station, struck the oil cars. The train stopped with a jerk. Passengers were tossed about and several were said to be slightly bruised.

The crash was heard, for many blocks and rumors immediately spread over the city that another railroad accident had claimed human lives.

The train due here at 5.35 o'clock, was bound for New York.

OBITUARY

Miss Eunice Bryant Kenney
The body of Miss Eunice Bryant Kenney of this city was brought to this city on Sunday morning following her sudden death from pneumonia at the Mary Fletcher hospital, Burlington, Vt. She was a freshman at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt., having been graduated from the Portsmouth high school in the class of 1915. She was sick but a few days and was removed to the hospital at Burlington where she was joined by her mother, Mrs. Syble Daley, just before her death.

Miss Kenney was born in Somersworth March 18, 1898, the daughter of Frank and Syble (Bryant) Kenney. She was a grand-daughter of John D. Bryant of Middle street.

Miss Kenney was one of the most popular girls in her class at both the high school and at college. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Syble Daley and three sisters. The funeral will be held from the North Parish Chapel on Middle street at 1.15 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, friends being invited.

Mrs. Margaret J. Clark.

Mrs. Margaret J. Clark, widow of the late William Clark of this city, passed away on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ashbell S. Brown, 69 Prospect street, aged 89 years. She was born in Portsmouth August 28, 1827, the daughter of the late Jonathan and Mary (White) Roberts, of Maplewood avenue. Mrs. Clark was a life-long resident of this city and enjoyed the respect of a large circle of friends. She is survived by two sons, William R. Clark of this city, and Frank Clark of Minneapolis; a daughter, Mrs. Ashbell S. Brown of this city, and two grandchildren, Herbert Clark of this city, and Mrs. Elmer Pope of Hamilton, Mass.

Miss Marion Hefelhelder of Sanford passed the week-end with friends at North Kittery.

It is time to think of the Spring clean-up and paint-up crusade.

All those interested in the building of a new school house in Kittery are urged to attend the meeting to be held at Grange hall at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

The Riverside Reading Club asks the cordial co-operation of the citizens of the town in the observance of April 27 as clean-up day. Teams will be sent through the town to collect rubbish, if it is put out in barrels and boxes. An united effort on the part of all residents will result in a cleaner, healthier town, and so all those who helped with this work last year, and many others, are urged to assist this year.

Rev. Alexander Graham preached at the South Ellet Methodist church on Sunday afternoon.

The evening service at the Second Christian church was largely attended. Lieut. Edwin A. Duncan, in observance of Appomattox Day, delivered an appropriate address. It was very interesting and Mr. Duncan held the close attention of his hearers. There was special music including a solo by Rev. Alexander Graham, and Just, "The Faded Coat of Blue," and "Just Before the Battle, Mother," by Mrs. Leslie Corbin and Mrs. George Seaward. There were present delegations from Storrs Post, G. A. R., and Relief Corps of Portsmouth.

The semi-annual convention of the Ellet, Kittery and York Sunday school association will be held at the Government Street Methodist church, Wednesday, April 19. The program for the day begins at 2.30 p. m., and the evening session will commence at 7 o'clock. Supper will be served at the church for 10c. Wesley J. Weare, secretary of the Maine State Sunday school association, will be present at both sessions.

THE EUROPEAN WAR IN BIBLE PROPHECY.

Undreamed of passions have burst forth, devouring the lands that patient hands have beautified and made fertile, and centuries have awoke with art treasures to the entire world the war has come, a complete surprise because they have not read our book, 400 pages—telling that just such conditions would exist, only to be followed by the still greater devastation of anarchy. WOULD EXPELL FOREIGNERS

Ask Mexicans to Grant Sufficient Time to Leave That Country.

Mexico City, April 17.—James Linn, agent of the United States government, will present on Monday new representations from the American government in regard to American troops operating in Mexico. The diplomatic corps has requested Secretary Amador of the foreign office to grant time for foreigners' departure that will give them time to arrange their departure before being expelled. This dispatch contains the first intimation of the new decree in Mexico to expel foreigners from that country, probably aimed at Americans.

X-OFFICERS TO BRING SUIT AGAINST DOVER

DOVER, April 16.—Suits will be brought at once against the city of Dover by the late Democratic Police Commission to recover the cost of the police ambulance, about $1400.

Proceedings were brought against the commission and Chief of Police Clark in June, 1914, by Mayor Charles H. Foss, to restrain them from seeking to appropriate funds of the city for payment for the auto patrol wagon. Judge James McCabe, senior counsel for the defendants, has just obtained the full text of the recent decision of the State Supreme Court on the law questions involved in the proceedings brought by the Mayor.

Judge McCabe views the decision as automatically rendering the city liable for the costs in the late proceedings, which will be understood, he taxed against it by the clerk of the Supreme Court.

After trial in the Superior Court of the suit now to be brought to establish the defendants' right to reimbursement for the cost of the automobile, the case will undoubtedly have to go to the Supreme Court, he said, on questions of law.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS TONIGHT

Don't stay headachy, sick, or have bad breath and sour stomach.

Wake up feeling fine! Best laxative for men, women and children.

Enjoy life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive, and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cathartic Candy from the drug store and eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cathartics never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cathartic any time—they act thoroughly and are harmless.

ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE.

In certain courses in the arts and science division. Heretofore the college has granted the bachelor of science degree only.

The change is made because the arts degree is desired by students who are not taking technical or scientific courses and who in many cases expect to teach. Women graduates especially find that the arts degree is a material asset to the teacher, and as the work country they have done in college would have earned them the degree elsewhere, they feel that it should earn the degree here.

Students of New Hampshire College are contributing generously to a fund to enable the members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Durham congregation church to make bandages and other hospital supplies for the wounded soldiers of the Allies.

The students have been asked to give ten cents each. The members of the Ladies Aid Society meet each Wednesday afternoon in the vestry of the church and are turning out dressings, bandages and fracture pillows as rapidly as possible. The work is difficult and members have to have special instruction to enable them to assist. Two trained nurses lend invaluable aid.

Mrs. C. H. Pettie, wife of the dean of the college has been in charge of the collection of funds with which to purchase supplies, and is much gratified at the response to her appeals.

THE HIPPODROME STREET PARADE.

From now on April 12th, will be known as "Hippodrome Day" in New York, for the public attention and enthusiasm caused by the Anniversary parade of the Hippodrome organization on that day, completely captured the metropolis and proved to be the greatest demonstration of its kind ever conceived by any New York theatrical enterprise.

The line of march which passed through 42nd Street to Eighth Ave. and around 34th Street to Madison Ave. returning to the Hippodrome was a continuous ovation to the remarkable column which started with Sousa's Band and which included the 1274 attaches, stars, chorus ladies, ballet girls, elephants, horses, clowns and heads of every department. It was a most impressive and picturesque procession representing the best-equipped and most perfectly organized amusement in the world. As the parade passed the New Amsterdam Theatre it was reviewed by Charles Dillingham, A. L. Erlanger, Bruce Edwards, Harry S. Black, H. O. Winsor and Theodore Rousseau, the latter representing the Administration of New York City. Everyone congratulated Mr. Dillingham upon the great display of discipline and order of this long column which extended for fourteen blocks divided into eight divisions, with each in charge of a department chief.

Following John Philip Sousa, who has not appeared on parade in New York since the welcome home to Dewey, the interest first was centered in the uniformed staff. The staff of curriers, scenic artists, electricians, customers, property men, and engineers came next, followed by the Hippodrome elephants. Next came Toto, the clown. Toyland was represented with a float, which was followed by the horses and ponies of the great Hippodrome pageant.

Then came the ladies, six hundred of them, led by Stage Manager extraordinary, R. H. Burnside and by Charlotte and the other principals. Every body was happy and in good humor. It was the eleventh birthday of the Hippodrome. It was the celebration of the record-breaking year, and they each were a part of the greatest success ever known in the history of the world's biggest playhouse. They had reason to rejoice—and parade.

LITERARY NOTES

The May American Magazine in the May American Magazine are the opening chapters of Philip Carr's brilliant new serial "Between Two Worlds," a love story of stage and society people. There is also a large amount of good fiction and a number of excellent special articles and features.

"Courtesy in Business," by Fred C. Kelly, proves that politeness pays actual dividends and has been heavily invested in by hard-headed business men throughout the country.

"A Boring Baseball Prediction" is made by Hugh S. Fullerton, easily the foremost authority on baseball in the country. He tells why the Red Sox will win the 1916 World's Championship.

"Kentucky," by Irvin S. Cobb, for the series on "The Glory of the States" gives an amusing account of the Blue Grass and Moonshine Country.

"Better Doctoring for Less Money" is continued by the famous physician, Dr. Richard C. Cabot, chief of the medical staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

"Have I Missed or Escaped Something?" by U. S. Congressman Edward J. King of Illinois is the story of a man who asks if his difficulties were a handicap or a benefit. "Have You Made Your Will?" by Frederick Hale, and directions for making it, by Charles S. Cutting, give valuable information on a duty that is shirked by ninety-seven per cent of our business men.

"Play's Worth Seeing," by Walter Pritchard Eaton, gives a critical discussion of the present dramatic productions.

Piction is contributed by Henry Wallace Phillips, Jack Latt, John A. Morris, Philip Curtis, O. H. Higgins, Prouty, and Lella Burnham Wells. There are the results of two prize contests, "Fables" and "Interesting People" include articles by Dr. Edwin F. Bowers and Oswald Garrison Villard. This number of The American Magazine is good from cover to cover.

The May Woman's Home Companion

In the May Woman's Home Companion, the editor asks squarely if the American public wants unclean motion picture films, giving evidence that seems to show that such films are widely preferred. The leading article, entitled "Incompatibility, Your Honor," by Justice John J. Fressell, who was recently knighted by King Victor Emmanuel III gives a study of the divorce problem based on Justice Fressell's wide experience as Judge of the Court of Domestic Relations in New York City. There are many excellent articles and good short stories. Articles of particular interest are "Good and Bad Piano Lessons," by William Armstrong, "Would You Want Your Daughter to Marry a Minister?" "The Bird Garden" and "The Fifty Dollar Shack That Cured My Wife of Tuberculosis."

Excellent material is contained in the regular departments. In the sections on handicraft and for younger readers. The department on cooking is conducted by Cora Farmer Perkins, "Better Films" by Helen Duesy, "The Woman Motorist," by C. H. Chandy, the automobile expert and "Your Son's Career," by a prominent business man. Fashions are discussed by Grace Margaret Gould. The new picture section is edited by the Alce Gravure process.

PASSOVER IN TYPE AND IN ANTITYPE

Israel's First-Borns Type of Church of First-Borns.

Only First-Borns in Danger of Death. Passing Over of Antitypical First-Borns Full of Meaning For the World. First-Borns: the Blessers of Their Brethren—Jesus Our Passover Lamb. A New Feature Not Shown in Type Inaugurated by Him.

Corinthians 6:7, 8.

The Passover ceremonies, the first institution of Divine favor with Natural Israel, prefigured the first institution of Divine favor toward Spiritual Israel, the Pastor began. This institution was inaugurated by our Lord Jesus in the Eucharist, or Holy Communion. As indicated by our text, the Jewish Passover was a type of the real Passover, with which was Christ's life to do. While we have clear statements by our Lord and His Apostles respecting the relationship between Christ and the Church and the special salvation of the Elect, nevertheless in the Passover type we find many details which assist us greatly in the understanding of the antitype.

The speaker then briefly reviewed the original Passover as given in Exodus 12. He emphasized the fact that it affected only the first-borns of Israel directly, although all the remainder of Israel were affected indirectly, and that subsequently these first-borns were exchanged by Divine command for the entire tribe of Levi, who as the sacrificing priests and the teaching Levites became the ministers of the Law Covenant for that nation. (Numbers 3:12-13, 44-51.) Then he showed that St. Paul distinctly points out the antitype of this; namely, the elect Church of this Gospel Age, "the Church of the First-borns, written in Heaven," "able ministers of the New [Law] Covenant."—Hebrews 12:23, 2 Corinthians 3:6-11.

These antitypical First-borns alone are being dealt with during this Gospel Age, or "night." These alone are in danger of a death penalty. (Hebrews 10:26, 27.) Nevertheless all mankind are interested in the Church, in her successful passing over, her attainment of life everlasting; for the Church will be the Royal Priesthood and the instructors of the New Covenant, which is shortly to be sealed and by the terms of which all the families of the earth will be blessed.

Jesus the Passover Lamb.

The Pastor then discussed the antitypical Passover. The Passover lamb typified our Lord Jesus Christ, "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29.) But the sin of the world has not yet been taken away. Our Lord has not yet applied His merit for the world. He has merely imputed it to the Household of Faith. In another sacrifice, which represented our Lord and the Church jointly sacrificing, as Head and members, the body of the animal was cut into pieces and laid with the head upon the altar, thus typifying Christ as the Head and the Church as His members. But provision was made that the Passover sacrifice was not to be divided—not a bone was to be broken. Thus it represented our Lord Jesus alone in His sacrifice.

The night in which the original Passover was eaten represented the Gospel Age; the morning of Israel's deliverance represented the Millennium. Morning, when the Sun of Righteousness shall arise with healing in His beams. The blood sprinkled upon doorposts and lintels indicated that all members of the Household of Faith must be justified by faith in Christ's precious blood. Should any of the antitypical First-borns go out from under the blood in the sense of denying its efficacy, the penalty would be the Second Death—hopeless extinction. The eating of the lamb pictured the appropriation by the Household of Faith of those earthly rights and interests which were forfeited by Adam's disobedience and redeemed by Jesus' death. The bitter herbs represented the trials and experiences of the saints.

New Symbolization—Cup Added Then. After partaking of the usual Passover supper, our Lord introduced a new symbolization of the antitypical Passover. Instead of the lamb would be the unleavened bread, representing our Lord's flesh. The eating of this bread typified justification, the appropriating to themselves of the merit of Christ's sacrifice.—John 6:51, 58.

Then our Lord added a new feature—the cup, which represented death. (Luke 22:20.) The invitation to drink of His blood signifies a participation with Christ in a sacrifice of earthly life, interests, hopes, aims—everything. This thought is additional to anything in the Jewish Passover type. Thus all members of the Church which is His body agree to be broken with Him, and attest their faithfulness by drinking "His Cup."—1 Corinthians 10:16, 17.

SERVICE AT WENTWORTH HOME

Palm Sunday was a red letter day at the Mark H. Wentworth Home, because of a beautiful service held there at 3 p. m., by the Rev. Mr. Attwood, Mr. Chester Miller of Brooklyn, tenor, Mrs. Attwood as accompanist. Mr. Miller, who is occasionally heard at the Universalist church, has a well-trained voice of great natural beauty and he sang three selections, "Palm Hallelujah," "Store Praises to Thee, O Christ!" and "Tell Me the Story of Jesus" with a sweetness and sincerity of expression that fully satisfied both ear and heart.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES

Palm Sunday was observed with the usual ceremonies on Sunday and the services were largely attended. Palm fronds were blessed and distributed at the high mass at 10:30.

The masses during Holy Week will be at 8 o'clock on Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings.

The mid-week service will be held on Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday. The sermon on that evening will be delivered by Rev. T. O. Loughlin, D. D. of the Salem, N. H., diocese.

A full rehearsal of the Easter music will be held on Tuesday and Friday evenings of this week by the senior choir.

The Sacrament of Baptism was administered to two on Sunday.

Some changes are expected among the clergy of the diocese following Easter when the vacancy at Littleton is expected to be filled.

ELKS WILL HAVE OUTING AT PORTLAND

Five Lodges to Gather There on June 21.

James W. Barrett, Andrew O. Caswell and William L. Conlon, a committee from Portsmouth Lodge of Elks, were in Dover on Sunday attending a meeting of other Elks' delegations regarding a joint outing of the organization to include Dover, Portsmouth, Milford, Haverhill and Portland lodges. It was voted to hold the same on June 21 at Portland Harbor. This is the first joint outing of the several lodges. The second outing may include additional lodges in 1917 and will be held in Portsmouth.

K. OF C. NOTES.

The committee in charge of renovating the home expect to have the work completed in a few weeks.

The musical squad, in charge of "Jack O'Brien," will start to practice next week.

The Council will observe communion Sunday on the Sunday following Easter and as usual breakfast will be served at the home.

ELECTRICAL ROAD SOLD FOR $7,700

Goes to Thomas Butler of Boston and Later Resold to Another Firm.

The property of the Citizens' Materials Railroad Company was sold at auction on Saturday afternoon to the highest of several bidders from Boston, Portland and this city. The best bid was in the proposal of Thomas Butler and Company of Boston. The list of bids are as follows:

James E. Gause and Son, Portsmouth, (copper only) 13 cents per pound.

James E. Dalton, Boston, (iron only) $5.00 per ton.

Massachusetts Northeastern Electric Railway, (bid on rails) $10.00 per ton.

Thomas Butler and Company, Boston, (entire outfit) $7700.

S. Selgar, Portland, (entire outfit) $7625.

Harry Cohen, Portsmouth, (entire outfit) $6325.

Roxbury Iron and Metal Company, Boston, (entire outfit) $6235.

In a short time after the sale, the thing changed hands again and was resold by Butler and Company to the Roxbury Iron and Metal Company for the sum of $5000.

The Rockingham Light and Power Company, which has rented the pole line for the use of its wires between the Maine and Greenland has made a bid for the purchase of the same from the new owners.

In removing the ties and rails the purchasing company will be obliged to put that part of the roadbed in Portland, and the town of Greenland, in shape satisfactory to the public works department of Portland and the selectmen of Greenland.

FELL IN THE RIVER TWICE IN ONE DAY

Second Plunge While Watching Police Hunt for Body of Drowned Man at Noble's Island.

John Leary of Somersworth opened the bathing season here on Saturday. It was a little early for salt water dips but John took two on that date and then he took a ride in the city hall "ferry" from Noble's Island to the Chapel street pond.

His first plunge was off the Appleton dock shortly after 11 o'clock in the forenoon when he was fished out by the crew of the tug Piscataqua.

Back on dry land again he soon re-emerged under the care of the force at one of the bathing stations at the North End and was ready for another stunt that would entitle him to a press notice. After harnessing himself up to a few more rounds of liquid ammunition, he navigated to Noble's Island to watch the police and others who were attempting to find the body of a man who jumped from the span of the Boston and Maine railroad on Friday. Leary told a few of the spectators how they hunted for bodies in the Salmon Falls river and other streams in Strafford county; that if he had a chance he would show the police and others some fancy diving. It was not long before the officers were obliged to suspend operations in searching for the dead man and lend a helping hand to Leary. He had lost his balance and rolled down over the steep embankment to the river. The police dragged him out and with the assistance of some bystanders, carried him along the track to the patrol wagon on the island. A crowd gathered around thinking that the police had recovered the body of Munsey, the missing man. Leary wanted no joy-ride and insisted on walking, but the police convinced him that the short spin would cost him nothing and do him good, and that the third plunge in the icy waters of the Piscataqua might prove fatal.

WORK STARTED ON THE REPAIR SHOP

Pike and Son to Erect Building for the B. & M.

Pike and Son of Boston have been awarded the contract for the building of the new repair shop of the Boston and Maine railroad in this city and have already started the work.

The building will be located on the hill at the east end of the round-house and besides the machine shop will contain a boiler house, tool room, office for foreman, rest room for engineers and firemen. It will be one story of concrete and brick, 41x88; all machinery equipment will be operated by electricity. When completed, some of the old buildings in the round-house yard will be removed.

WILL ERECT BOTH BUILDINGS

Work on Paper Mill to Start Soon By Boston Contractor.

The Walter A. Wentworth Company, of 15 Exchange Place, Boston, has been awarded the contract for the construction of the paper mill of the Atwater-Bulfinch Manufacturing Company which will be started as soon as the Boston and Maine railroad completes the work of installing a new side track to the site of the proposed building.

The above named firm was some time ago awarded the contract for the new clothing button plant and considering the recent bad weather, have the same well under way.

TABLETS WERE REMOVED FROM GUNS

In Order That Officers and Men of Spanish Transport Might Not Be Embarrassed.

A very thoughtful act was carried out by order of Captain William L. Howard, commandant of the navy yard during the visit of the Spanish ship Almirante Lobo.

In order that the officers and men of the Spanish navy transport might not be embarrassed the tablets were removed from the Spanish trophy guns which ornament the lawn in front of the administration building.

The guns are from the former Spanish ships Maria Teresa and Vizcaya, of the once famous fleet of the late Admiral Cervera which met destruction at Santiago on July 5, 1898, as a result of the order of General Weyler who ordered that Cervera come out of Santiago harbor and give battle to the fleet of Uncle Sam which had them bottled up for several days.

On the departure of the transport for Spain the tablets were put back in place.

The Hardman

THE PIANO THAT GIVES PERENNIAL SATISFACTION

This is an interesting fact about the Hardman Piano. Run your eye over the lists of used and exchanged pianos offered every now and then for sale at reduced prices. You will notice that the Hardman is conspicuous by its absence. A hundred or more different manufacturers are constantly represented in the lists in the course of the year, but rarely found is the name of Hardman.

This can mean only one thing. "The people who have bought the Seventy Thousand Hardman Pianos are so thoroughly satisfied with them that they desire no change. Even when they decide to replace their piano by a Player-Piano, they still wish it Hardman. So they come to us and exchange their valued old friend for a Hardman Autone." That word "friend" sums up the whole situation. "The Hardman is the Piano of the Home." Almost from the moment of its arrival in the household it is regarded by each member of it not as a mere musical instrument but as a real, living, intimate friend.

It is this bond of friendship which you are making up your mind as to what piano you are going to buy. These facts you will find well worth remembering.

Terms arranged to suit your convenience. Liberal allowance for instruments taken in exchange. Write for handsomely illustrated catalogue.
